

AAPA Award for Apicultural Excellence

1998 Member Excellence Award - Dr. Malcolm T. Sanford

Dr. Sanford, more than anyone else, has brought the information age to American apiculture. His monthly newsletter Apis has grown from a Florida clientele newsletter to a worldwide clearinghouse for news and ideas. Tom is gifted at pointing out the mega-trends and provocative questions of beekeeping:

- changing roles of Extension in light of the internet
- the role of non-Apis pollinators
- what makes beekeepers adopt new methodologies?
- is the honey bee still a wild animal?

Dr. Sanford is universally respected for his careful standards of scientific reporting and tactful diplomacy. He is a quiet leader in our field and deserves recognition.
